

ABSTRACT

A retail store develops a marketing incentive program and distributes different types of benefits to consumers in the program. One benefit the retail store can distribute is a recurring cash value benefit to the consumer.